FOR PRESIDENT,

GROVER CLEVELAND, New York

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

T. A. HENDRICKS, Indiana.

For Member of Congress,

FRANK POWERS, of Carter.

It is the desire of the Cleveland and Hendricks, Powers and Northrup club to have a full attendance next Saturday. In addition to announcing the district committees, the ladies will be distributed.

A number of cattle have died with in the past few days in Jessamine county with what was supposed to be pleuro pneumonia, but examination by Dr. Haygood, of Lexington proved it to be Texas fever.

The efforts of the Bulletin Republican, published at Augusta, to say something detrimental to the interests of the Democratic party and its nominee, Col. Frank Powers, are absolutely painful in their pointlessness.

The most encouraging reports of the success of Cleveland and Hendricks come from all parts of the country. Timid ones are liable to be misled and discouraged by lying, venal correspondents, like Gath, but the truth is, the Democratic skies were never brighter. Let every Democrat in Bath do his duty.

We are told that there was a negro here on Sunday from Maysville, sent by Mr. Wadsworth with a letter to read to the colored voters, explaining how he did vote for Asbury and how his son did not. If Mr. Wadsworth says he voted for Asbury of course he did, but the charge has been made in the local press of Maysville that he did not and it is strange that this denial has not come through the same source as the same columns are always open to him.

We would like very much for the Maysville Bulletin to make the proof, by affidavit, that Mr. Wadsworth refused to vote for Asbury. We understand that the honorable gentleman is sending out emissaries amongst the colored voters of the district, with statements in writing, over his own signature, denying the fact: One of these strikers, a colored preacher, was here Sunday and read such a letter to the colored congregation. Several colored voters here have asked us for the proof, and say they will not support Wadsworth if he refused to vote for one of their color.

All hail to the gallant Ohio Democracy! The fight that they are now making is unparalleled in the history of political contests. In the face of the terrible odds against them, it is like hoping against hope to anticipate a victory on Tuesday week; yet, not withstanding, they are doing battle with an enthusiastic courage that is winning the applause and admiration of the brethren in the faith throughout the length and breadth of the country. Victory for the Democracy in Ohio means the utter annihilation of Republican hopes. Becoming alarmed, the managers planned an electioneering tour throughout the State, of Blaine, Logan and other shining lights, which is now being carried out. In addition to this, hundreds of thousands of dollars have been sent into the State to buy votes. In fact, all of the mighty machinery of the party is now concentrated in the one desperate effort to carry the State on the 14th of this month; and if the Democrats succeed in holding the majority down to ten thousand or less, they will virtually have won a great victory.

The Hon. W. W. Culbertson was the most shamefully treated man that ever offered for office in Kentucky. Since the rape committed by Sam McKee this district had been uniformly represented by a Democrat. It is true that the Republicans made hard and gallant fights at each election but always with inferior material and the result was defeat. Their eyes turned longingly to Mr. Wadsworth and on bonded knees and with tearful supplications they appealed to him to be their Moses and lead them out of the wilderness. But each appeal was met with a stern, haughty refusal. The time was not ripe for self-sacrificing Culbertson had yet blazed the way and with energy and money won a victory, and by a conservative, faithful performance of duty while a member of Congress, made it very possible in the future.

As soon as this grand result had been achieved, and while Mr. Culbertson was at his post of duty in Washington, trusting to a generous, justice loving constituency for an endorsement, home politician, and amongst the number Mr. Wadsworth, around whose heretofore deaf ears the congressional bee was now buzzing, began scheming tooust Culbertson. How well they succeeded, the result of the Maysville convention all too eloquently tells the tale. Culbertson was hustled to the rear with a brutal coarseness and want of ceremony that made even us Democrats, whom he had handled so roughly, feel for him a kind of sympathy, and Mr. Wadsworth paraded before the convention as the only man who could carry the party's banner to victory in November.

The truth of the matter is, and it is being made more evident every day, that Mr. Wadsworth is the candidate, not of the honest bone and muscle, but of the does-skin, kid gloved wing of the Republican party. This class set the triggers on Mr. Culbertson, while his friends, the honest, laboring men were earning their daily bread, and it was an easy matter to spring them at the proper time. This they did without remorse, crushing out the sentiment of the honest majority. The extent of the resentment that will follow such treatment remains to be seen.

The young men of the Ninth Congressional District, who have been reared Democrats by Democratic parents, but who are now thinking of casting their vote for Mr. Wadsworth, are requested to read the speech made by him in 1862, and of which the following is a part. The entire speech is in the Congressional Record, of January 1862. When you read it, have your gray-haired parents by you, or if they are not here, go out to the grave yard and read it over their tombs. It may be pleasant for you to remember that these parents concealed you and saved you when accused home guards were prowling about the country, murdering, burning, stealing, and eagerly awaiting the opportunity to execute the suggestions made at the time by such men as Wadsworth. How do you feel while contemplating a vote for the man who advocated hanging your parents. Read this and take a solemn vow to avenge the insult at the polls.

"Kentucky has gone into the war to extinguish rebellion by the sword, and she never will lay down the sword, while the war is waged in the spirit of the constitution, till that great purpose has been accomplished, and the audacious men who have precipitated this ruin upon the country—the leaders and the controllers in the council and the field—have been brought to the halter."

"Let the friends of the Union gather around its standard and do what it becomes brave and patient men to do; let them do as the greatness of the cause calls upon them to do; and we will teach these leaders of this rebellion a bloody lesson. Overthrown in battle they shall wander melancholy and degraded, exiles in a foreign land, or they shall deliver up their accursed lives to the judgment of the courts of the country. It can be done and it shall be done; the fortune of the Republic and the bravery of her sons and the wisdom of the Government wills it."

We should like to observe a son of a follower of Breckinridge or Morgan vote for this blatant home-grown rebel, after reading the above disgusting diatribe. His face would be a picture of manliness sufficient to bring crimson blushes to the wall of a felon's cell.—Vanceburg Courier.

Bald Eagle.

A delightful rain fell here Saturday night last.

Corn is ready to cut. The crop in this section is very good.

A little child of Lee Cline's died Sunday of inflammation of the stomach, aged about six months.

Joe Terry, who has been visiting friends in this neighborhood for the past ten days, left for his home in Hill county, Texas, Wednesday.

The largest portion of the tobacco crop in this part of our moral vineyard will be housed this week. Thank goodness to goodness we are through.

A. W. Belstow, of Fleming county, has rented Dr. Reynolds' property at Reynoldsville, and purchased the Doctor's stock of goods. Possession given the first of November.

Mrs. Eliza Johnson and son James, Mrs. Emma Seay, Mrs. Ellen Stone and Mrs. Lou Stone, of Johnson Junction, Fleming county, and Mrs. Mag Wilson, of Bethel, visited Joseph Wilson's family this week.

Died: At the residence of John Bell at Reynoldsville, Mr. Terry, aged about 80 years. He had been in declining health for some weeks past, and on Saturday night last quietly passed away into the great ocean of eternity. His remains were taken to Clark county Monday for interment.

"He that hath ears to hear let him hear." Only will go Democratic, Geo.

ver Cleveland will be the next President of the United States, and W. H. Wadsworth will not represent this district in the next Congress. You hear my tribuna. And any man that wishes to let one hundred thousand dollars that such will not be the case, let him call upon my banker and he will be accommodated.

The negroes had a festival at this place Saturday night, and as usual, turned it into a regular fighting matinee, in which about thirty shots were fired. After the battle was over the field was surveyed and loss measured which resulted as follows: George French shot through the left thigh by one Alex Brooks, inflicting an ugly though not dangerous wound; Bill Burbridge's left ear combed rabidly chewed, and Bob Patch minus one thumb. We suppose the County Attorney will look into this shooting business, and therefore will make no comments any further than to say that it would have been a blessing if dynamite had been placed under the house, and the whole outfit blown into the middle of the kettle of Hades.

The Apostolic Tim's gets a good advertisement by coming out "Farnist" Cleveland on high moral ground. Somehow, it appears remarkable that the editors who get up the cheerful matter in that sheet have not heard of a certain lecherous man named Blaine, who for nearly half a year carried on illicit amours with a lady. Probably they may have heard something of this sort, and it so, they doubtless stand on such a highly moral plane that they will be compelled to eschew both Cleveland and Blaine. If so, they can put their affections on either Ben Butler, St. John or Sister Lockwood—three charmingly virtuous people.—Transcript.

At 1 o'clock Friday afternoon Kelly Sloan shot and killed Wm. Smith at the Kentucky Central depot at Maysville. Both are strangers and rough-looking men. Smith was seen running to the depot pursued by Sloan and two women. When overtaken he was shot through the brain. One of the women said Smith had stolen her brother's pistol. That seems the only provocation known. All the parties are under arrest.

When you have once used Will's World Worm Candy in your family and understand its value, you will have others. That is the experience of thousands who have tried it. It is the best in use. Ask your druggist for it and take no other.

No such protection against chills and fever and other diseases of a malarial type exists as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It relieves constipation, indigestion, rheumatism, kidney and bladder ailments with certainty and promptness. A change, as gratifying as it is complete, soon takes place in the appearance, as well as the condition of the man and his general health who uses this standard promoter of health and strength. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE!

John F. Stone, plaintiff,

Wesley Whaley, &c., defendants.

By virtue of a judgment of the Bath Circuit Court, I shall, as Master Commissioner of said court, on the same being the first day of the Bath county court, at the court house door in the town of Owingsville, Bath county, Ky., offer for sale to the highest bidder the one ninth of the following described tract of land, viz: A certain piece or parcel of land situated in the county of Bath, on the waters of Bald Eagle creek, being the same land sold by Milton P. Stone to Omar Wilson and now in the possession of Daniel Edmunds. Said land is described as follows: Beginning at a stake corner with Geo. A. Whitney in Jas. Hatfield's line, thence N 5 E 26 21-100 poles to a stake in said Hatfield's line, thence S 88 E 22 W 91 94-100 poles to a stake in L. M. Stone's line, thence S 10 W 12 56-100 poles to a stone corner with George A.
